NUREMBERG, September 3.

THE ſad ſituation this city was, for a long time in, is generally known. Her misfortunes increaſed by the preſent war and other circumſtances, and the invaſion of the French, to whom we were not only obliged to pay a very large ſum in ſpecie, but alſo to furniſh, during fourteen days, an enormous quantity of requiſites of all kinds, reduced at laſt, this city to ſuch a condition, as forced her to give up every hope of a longer exiſtence, and to commit herſelf to the protection of his majeſty the king of Pruſſia, her powerful neighbour.—A treaty of ſubmiſſion and immunity was, therefore, yeſterday concluded in the ſuburb of Goſtenhoff, between his excellency the baron de Hardenberg and a deputation of the city of Nuremberg, after which the royal Pruſſian troops, under the command of col. Von Lawrens, took immediate poſſeſſion of the city. The citizens hope, that under the wiſe adminiſtration of his majeſty the king, this city will again become flouriſhing; eſpecially as the conditions of the treaty are favourable and conſolatory.

ESLANGEN, September 12.

Hardenberg was in the ſuburb of Goſtenhoff more than eight days before the delivery of the city was reſolved on, and from that time the number of the Pruſſian ſoldiers increaſed in the environs of Nuremberg.

The king of Pruſſia charges himſelf with the national debt of Nuremberg. The burghers are exempted from the ſervice in the army, and no ſoldiers ſhall be quartered in their houſes.

The burghers were aſſembled in their reſpective wards, and called upon to declare indiſcriminately and in writing, whether they would not accept the Pruſſian protection. Two rolls were for the purpoſe laid on the table, the one for the ayes and the other for the noes.

The great majority of the inhabitants, particularly the patricians and the honoratores or well born, ſubſcribed their names on the firſt roll. From 14 to 1500 burghers, chiefly tradeſmen, and people of the loweſt claſs were againſt the ſurrender of the independence of the city. The garriſon has already been reinforced, becauſe the rabble made ſome attempts to take revenge upon thoſe reſpectable perſons who were moſt active in procuring to this diſtreſſed country the favour of participating of the king of Pruſſia's protection.

VIENNA, September 7.

On the 1ſt inſt. general Latour, in conjunction with major general count Nauendorf, who had been detached by his royal highneſs to his reinforcement, attacked the enemy at three in the morning at Geiſfenfeld, and drove them from that poſition. The French then took poſt in a wood, from which, after an obſtinate action, they were likewiſe driven, and compelled to retreat from one height to another, to Buch and Bernabach; where general Latour determined to attack them with his whole line. But here they were joined by the diviſion ſtationed at Neuberg, by which they obtained a great ſuperiority over the Auſtrian general, in infantry and artillery. The ground in front of the Auſtrians was likewiſe unfavourable for the operations of the cavalry, ſo that general Latour was obliged to retreat, which he did about five in the afternoon.

The general highly commends the courage diſplayed by the troops, who exerted themſelves to the utmoſt in their power.—On the next day general Latour took an advantageous poſition near Pleſſenhauſen, and the corps under general Nauendorf poſted itſelf at Abenſberg, by which Ratiſbon, Stranhingen, and Landſhut, are covered. In this poſition general Latour means to wait reinforcements, ſome of which are arrived, and others daily expected, when he will advance to ſupport more effectually his royal highneſs, and force general Moreau to retreat, either by a new attack, or ſuch movements as may be neceſſary.

STUTGARD, September 6.

According to the Italian papers, the Corſican inſurrection becomes more and more ſerious. Commiſſary Salicetti is deſtined to accompany and direct the armament which the French are going to ſend to that iſland.

HAGUE, September 6.

General Bournonville has now actually received orders from the directory at Paris to take the command of the ſiege of Ehrenbreitſtein. Being at the ſame time chief of the Northern and Batavian army, he has requeſted the approbation of our convention which he has obtained. It has been allowed to him at the ſame time to take along with him part of the French ſubſidial troops, 25,000 of which are in our pay. The general is therefore gone to Deventer, in order to break up the camp which has been there this ſummer. Our convention likewiſe agreed laſt Friday, that part of our own troops which had been encamped at Nymwegen and further along the frontiers ſhould march towards the Lower Rhine. It is ſuppoſed that theſe troops are intended for Duſſeldorff, in order to relieve the French who are there.

The French troops which are yet in the dukedom of Cleve are drawing all towards the army of the Sambre and Meuſe in Franconia. The French troops under general Daindels, who together with the Dutch troops are marching to their different deſtinations, amount to more than 20,000.

HAMBURG, September 10.

Intimation has been given to the French emigrants in Dreſden, who were there in great numbers, that they are to quit that place on the 6th of this month at fartheſt; thoſe that are ſick may remain until the 16th.

Mr. Hammond, under ſecretary of ſtate of his Britannic majeſty, left Hamburg on the 9th inſtant, in order to return on board the frigate Garland, from Cuxhaven to England.

BREMEN, September 13.

It is not known where Jourdan is—Lefebvre has taken command of that flying army. The peaſants of Franconia, in number about ſix thouſand, under the command of a game keeper of the environs of Neuſtadt, have carried off the military cheſt of the French, in which they found half a million in hard caſh.

BRUSSELS, September 16.

The French army, commanded by general Jourdan, is rapidly retreating at all points; in conſequence of which it ſhould ſeem, they have taken a poſition behind the Lahn, where they have raiſed, with the utmoſt expedition, ſome intrenchments.

The Auſtrian army is now rapidly purſuing, with the utmoſt ſucceſs.—Accounts have already been received of the arrival of the Imperial troops at Francfort, and it is confidently ſaid, that the ſiege of Manheim is raiſed, a circumſtance highly improbable in the preſent circumſtances.

Retreat of Jourdan across the Rhine.

P. S. We are at this moment informed that general Jourdan has transferred his head quarters to the left bank of the Rhine.

WILHELMSBAD, September 9.

The Auſtrians entered Francfort on the 7th, in the evening. On the 8th, in the afternoon, the blockade of Mentz was not raiſed. The Sambre and Meuſe army is aſſembling between the Lahn and Mein. The reinforcements received by that army are incalculable. A conſiderable corps is deſiling along the Moſelle, and another along the Lower Rhine, coming from Holland and the countries between the Meuſe and the Rhine.

COBLENTZ, September 11.

General Marceau's diviſion in the Hundzruck, and which is increaſing daily by new troops coming from the interior, is to be immediately augmented by the diviſions of Poncet and Bonnard, which are to croſs the Rhine at Neuwied. Theſe diviſions will be increaſed by others from the army of the North. By means of theſe reinforcements general Jourdan, who has taken a poſition from Friedberg to the mouth of the Lahn, will be in a condition to reſume offenſive operations.

The Auſtrians appear to be checked in their purſuit, and ſeeing that general Moreau does not follow the movements of Jourdan, the archduke will be forced to withdraw a great part of his army to the Danube, either to attack the army of the Rhine and Moſelle, or to reinforce general Frolich and Wolf.

It does not appear that the Sambre and Meuſe army has yet paſſed the Lahn. We are aſſured the head quarters are at Wetzlaer. From Treves we learn, that reinforcements are paſſing for the army of the Sambre and Meuſe.—[From the Bruſſels paper.]

BOURDEAUX, 13th Fructidor.

A tragedy entitled, The death of Turenne, has been repreſented at the grand theatre of this city, many paſſages furniſhed alluſions, this line, Peace is better than victory was twice applauded; in the courſe of the piece an actor aſks; who may be compared to Turenne? a citizen in the pit cried out, Buonaparte.

TOULON, 10 Fructidor, Auguſt 29.

Two thouſand ſailors have arrived in this port from Breſt. A great number more are on their voyage, and are expected to arrive every moment.

A report prevails, and is generally believed, that twenty ſail of the line belonging to Spain, in conjunction with the eight ſhips of war, which compoſed the diviſion under the command of admiral Richery, have ſailed from Cadiz, and will ſoon make their appearance off this place, with a view of cruiſing in the Mediterranean.

PARIS, 13*th Fructidor*, 4*th year.*

The miniſter of the marine and the colonies, to the officer charged with the junction of the etat-major at Havre.

I inform you, citizens, that the French republic has concluded a treaty of alliance with Spain, and that this act has been ſubmitted to the ratification of the legiſlative body. As this diſpoſition may expoſe the veſſels of that nation, which navigate without convoy, to be capured by the Engliſh, you will give information to all Spaniſh captains, who may be in the port or circle of Havre, in order that they may be on their guard, and take all neceſſary meaſures for their ſafety.

(Signed) "TRUGE".

Sept. 7. It is ſaid that the Spaniſh government will never liſten to any terms of accommodation with England, unleſs the latter power will conſent to ſurrender Gibraltar, which was unjuſtly taken from them whilſt placed in the hands of England as a ſacred depoſite.

The Auſtrian general Wurmſer, who has conſiderable poſſeſſions in Alſace, has been put on the liſt of emigrants from the department of the Lower Rhine. He proteſted againſt this proceeding, but the adminiſtration of the department has confirmed his proſcription.

Sept. 8. A private letter from Rome mentions that the Belvidere Apollo is carefully packed up, and on the point of being ſent off to Paris.—By what rout is it to reach this capital? If by land, it muſt of neceſſity be daſhed to pieces on its paſſage over the Alps, and we ſhall be under the imputation of having deſtroyed a chef d'œuvre in the ſtatuary art; if by ſea, it runs the hazard of being taken by the Engliſh, who will have the benefit of it, while the obloquy will attach upon us.

Sept. 17. Jourdan is to take the command of the army of the North; Bournonville that of the Sambre and Meuſe.

A letter from Aix-la-Chapelle, of the 8th of September, informs us, that general Jourdan has been forced, after a battle upon the Redmich, to retire to the Upper Mein. There was on the 4th near Wurtzburg, a very warm affair, the reſult of which was, the occupation of that city by the Auſtrians.

CAPTURE OF RATISBON BY MOREAU.

The army of the Rhine and Moſelle, after having occupied Munich, has got poſſeſſion of Ratiſbon, from whence it is marching to take the archduke in the rear.

Francfort is retaken. The head quarters of Jourdan have re-paſſed the Rhine.—Bernadotte is dreadfully wounded. It is believed that the ſiege of Mentz is raiſed.

The laſt intelligence received from the army of the Sambre and Meuſe, dated the 15th, in ſtating the account of their retrogade movement, has produced in the public mind the moſt painful ſenſations reſpecting the left of our line of operations. Advices of the 24th and 25th, the only accounts that come to hand ſince the date above mentioned, have in part allayed the ſenſations which the preceding diſpatch ought not to have produced, and the manifeſt abſurdity of the alarms, excited by vague and ridiculous reports, and the credulity of thoſe who entertain them.

The ſiege of Ehrenbreitſtein is not as yet raiſed. The army of the Sambre and Meuſe has not fallen back upon the Rhine, as was reported, but upon the Lahn, where they occupy very advantageous poſitions—they will remain ſtationary in thoſe poſitions, until they reſume the offenſive, by marching back to the heart of Germany, and forming a line with the front of the army of the Rhine and Moſelle, which is ſupported on one ſide by the Danube, on the other by the mountains of Tyrol. Thus, by their conjoint operations, they will aim a blow at the vitals of Auſtria, which peace alone can avert.

Sept. 18. General Buonaparte has authoriſed our miniſter at Rome to ſignify to the Neapolitan miniſter, Acton, that if the Neapolitan troops invade the territory of the pope, he will order a diviſion of his army to march to the defence of his holineſs's dominions. Eighteen thouſand men are already preparing to march towards Bologna. The Neapolitans were at Ponte Corvo, to the number of three thouſand. It is feared that another column will march to the Romagna. The Neapolitans replied, that they took theſe precautions merely to prevent deſertion. This, however, is but an excuſe.

LONDON, September 17.

Yeſterday we received by expreſs the Paris journals to the 15th and thoſe of Bruſſels to the 12th. by an article inſerted in the latter, we are led to believe that Jourdan intended to aſſemble all his different corps at Francfort, where it is probable his head quarters are arrived by this time. Some of the letters pretend that Jourdan's retreat is only a ſtra-tagem, calculated to draw the archduke into a more fatal snare than that into which he fell by Jourdan's retreat across the Rhine at Coblentz, in the beginning of the campaign. But we do not concur in this opinion. Jourdan's letters plainly shew that he has sustained several severe defeats. We do not think it improbable that either the archduke will cut off Moreau's retreat, or Moreau will cut off the archduke's. Moreau's army now becomes much more an object of interest than that of Jourdan. From the banks of the Nab to Ramelsberg, the distance which Jourdan has retreated since the archduke crossed the Danube at Ingolstadt, is full 150 miles.

Sept. 22. Thirty transports having on board four thousand black troops (French prisoners) who have been taken prisoners in the West Indies, are daily expected to arrive here.

Resources of Spain.

The annual revenue of this kingdom amounts to twenty million sterling, according to the latest accounts. Its population is ten millions and a half—its military establishment ninety thousand men, including twenty thousand militia—and its naval force three hundred and thirty-eight vessels, of which seventy-one are of the line. Clarke's Statistical Survey, 1793.

Sept. 23. The lord chancellor yesterday had the king's orders to prepare a commission for assembling both houses of parliament on Tuesday next.

The subscribers to the second loan this day made good their sixth payment of 15l. per cent. on the whole of that capital at the bank.

On Wednesday, earl Macartney kissed the king's hand on being appointed governor of the Cape of Good Hope; as did Sylvester Douglas, Esq; on being appointed deputy governor.

Hoffman is returned from Paris, whither he had been dispatched by the Danish minister for a passport or a confidential agent of ours to repair to Paris for the purpose of opening a negotiation for peace. Mr. Hoffman's reception it is said was favourable; and the answer which he brings from the directory, though not divulged, is said to be conciliatory. [Other accounts state that the French still insist on the reduction of our fleet to 40 sail of the line, and the cession of Gibraltar and Jamaica.]

BOSTON, October 17.

Mr. Winslow arrived at Alicant, about the 22d of August, off Cape de Gares, was boarded by an Algerine corsair, whom he supplied with water. The Algerine had with him the ship Betsey, Captain Sampson, of Boston. The English ships in the Spanish ports were embargoed; but no hostilities on the part of the English had yet taken place, and small vessels from Spain visited Gibraltar as usual.

We learn that the two original commissioners for settling the St. Croix boundary, met at Halifax in August last and made choice of the honourable Egbert Benson, Esq; of New York, as the third commissioner. That Judge Benson on the 25th of September met the other commissioners at Passamaquody Bay. The board then took the oath required by the treaty, and appointed Edward Winslow, Esq; their secretary. The board then continued in session, received and decided upon several memorials delivered in by the agent for the United States, and by the agent for his Britannic majesty. The commissioners went to and took a view of the mouths of the two rivers contended for by the parties, and having ordered surveys of them, and of the bay into which they empty their waters, and having made arrangements for a final hearing adjourned to meet in Boston.

RUTLAND, October 24.

At the late election of a representative for the eastern district of this state to congress, the whole number of votes was 3,018. Of these 2,931 were for Mr. Buck. The scattering votes amounted to but 88, of which not more than three were for the same person.—We are happy to find that Mr. Buck's exertions, and federalism, have met with the universal approbation of his constituents.

NEW-YORK, October 27.

Yesterday the brig Rebecca, captain Brown, arrived at this port in 37 days from Havre-de-Grace. By capt. B. our regular file of the Paris Moniteur, is received to September 14.

These papers are only one day later than accounts before received.

A Postscript to the Paris Moniteur, of September 12, contains the following important article which we have not before seen.

Army of Italy.

From the 16th to the 18th Fructidor (Sept. 2 to 4) there were several bloody battles fought at the advanced posts beyond Trent, the success of which equals (if not surpasses) the preceding exploits of the army of Italy. Five thousand men killed or taken, 15 pieces of cannon, and 7 standards are the fruits of the victory, which the general in chief was following up.

The Moniteur of September 13, contains the following official account from the army of the Rhine and Moselle:

Extract of a letter from the general in chief, Moreau, to the Executive Directory.

Head quarters at Pfaffenhoffen
19th Fructidor—Sept. 5.

Citizens Directors,

On the 17th of the month (Sept. 3) general St. Cyr made an attack on Freising: he had orders to be first in his attack to prevent them from destroying the bridge on the Iser. This attack succeeded perfectly.

The enemy descended upon the bridge with a regiment of infantry, 4 squadrons of cavalry, and some cannon. The 81st half brigade, the 9th regiment of hussars, and the 2d of cavalry, attacked them with such vigour, that they had time only to raise some of the planks of the bridge, which were immediately replaced. The right flank of the army, this day has taken a position at Gassenfeld.

Giving you an account of so brisk an action, is rendering you panegyrics on the troops and officers who were engaged in it.

The Minerva, captain Rainburn, arrived yesterday in 31 days from Brest, we learn, brought a Paris paper of September 18, but having fallen in with a French privateer (which it is said is now off the Hook) and being treated politely by the captain, he handed it to him. We cannot learn whether it contained any important articles or not.

It is said, that letters are in town of late date from Halifax, informing, that 7 of the Quebec fleet had been captured by the French squadron, 6 of which were destroyed, and the 7th was manned for port; being estimated at upwards of 100,000l. sterling.

A large deputation of the Six Nation Indians have lately held a conference with the commanding officer of the Federal troops at Niagara, at that post.—The object of this conference was to obtain from the Indians the privilege of cutting a road through their lands from Canandaqua, to Niagara—This had been refused by them at the treaty held by colonel Pickering, but has now been chearfully granted.—We notice the Cornplanter among the chiefs at the conference.

Judge Williamson, of Genneſee, has lately caused to be built at Geneva, a vessel of 30 tuns. It was launched a few days since into the Seneca lake—is called the Williamson, and is the largest vessel which ever before floated on the Seneca waters.

PHILADELPHIA, October 31.

IMPORTANT.

Extract of a letter from a respectable house in Amsterdam, to their correspondent in New-York, dated Amsterdam, September 19, 1796.

"The news of the day is that the KING of PRUSSIA has declared WAR against the EMPEROR of GERMANY; that his troops are marching, and that likely the ports of Hamburg and Embden will be shut against British vessels to oblige that court to enter into terms of peace. How far the news is certain we cannot say, but we are certainly on the eve of great events; if peace does not take place soon, war is likely to rage with redoubled animosity."

The foregoing intelligence is highly probable, when we recollect that the king of Prussia has taken Nuremberg and other Imperial cities under his immediate protection, contrary to the wishes of the emperor, and his construction of the Imperial constitution.

The above is copied from a New York paper of Saturday last.

Annapolis, November 10.

Reg. Cur. Can.

DEPENDING, as I do in my present situation, upon receiving punctual payment of interest due me on bond, and otherwise, I request the favour of all those who are indebted, and more especially those who owe interest from two to seven years and upwards, that they would take notice, that I desire payment of all arrears of interest, on or before the 10th day of November next, otherwise I shall be under the disagreeable necessity of compelling payment by every method in my power, not only of such interest but principal also. I greatly dislike the trouble of dunning gentlemen by repeated applications, and have therefore thought it best for those concerned, as well as myself, to give this general notice.

Not being constantly in Annapolis any payment of interest to Henry Hall, jun. who lives at my house in town, will be good, he is authorised to receive for me, his receipt shall be deemed and taken as payment for the sum therein specified.

High bred Cattle for sale.

On the 16th of November next, if fair, or the first fair day thereafter, will be OFFERED at PUBLIC SALE, for READY PAY, at Holland's Island, on Herring Bay, at the hour of 11 o'clock,

ABOUT one hundred head of valuable high bred CATTLE, of the latest stock from England, and perhaps superior to any ever imported to this country, consisting of twenty-five steers from three to five years old; among which are eight pair broke oxen, and fit for immediate use, their size and power are calculated for the heaviest labour; twenty-five cows, all young and are in calf by a full bred bull, the excellence of this valuable stock cannot be excelled at the pail; fifty young cattle, among which are several bulls of one year old, and the remainder in heifers, highly formed, which are calculated for the perpetuation of this truly admired stock. Also, a high bred bull, now rising seven years old. It is unnecessary to comment on the value of this kind of property, the best recommendation that can be given falls very short of a true description. I must therefore refer those inclined to purchase to an examination, which emboldens me to say they cannot be equalled.

THE debtors to the State of Maryland for confiscated property purchased, and others who have installed their debts, will please to observe, that their next instalment becomes due on the first day of December next, and it is expected that the payments will be made at the Treasury of the Western Shore on or before that day, otherwise process will certainly issue against every delinquent on the day following; it hath been a practice heretofore to delay issuing against the delinquents until after the 20th day of February following, as no such indulgence will be given for the ensuing instalment, I hope the debtors will be punctual in making their payments. In all cases where property is taken in execution for the use of the state, I shall fix a place and day of sale, where I shall attend in person to enforce the sale, unless payment be made.

The several county clerks will please to take notice, that agreeably to law their returns and payments should be made on the first day of November in each year, and as several of them have heretofore neglected to comply, I will certainly put the law in force against those who fail in making their returns and payments on the first day of November next.

The sheriffs are requested to pay up their respective balances on or before the first day of November next, otherwise I shall take immediate steps thereafter for the recovery of the same.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.

WERE stolen from this city, on Sunday evening last, two bay HORSES, remarkably well matched, four years old last spring, about fourteen hands three inches high, hanging manes and switch tails, which are long; each of them has a small star in his forehead, and one of them a small white snip on the nose; one is branded S I the other branded $\frac{2}{S}$ on their buttocks; they have been newly shod, and are remarkably fat. Whoever will deliver to me the said horses shall receive Twenty Dollars, and whoever apprehends the thief or thieves, who stole them, shall receive Thirty, on their conviction.

J. H. STONE.

Annapolis, September 20, 1796.

Forty Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, living near Montgomery county court-house, on the 27th of July last, a very likely negro man named PATRICK; he is about nineteen or twenty years of age, five feet nine or ten inches high, of a bright complexion, and has the first joint of one of his middle fingers very much contracted, supposed to be occasioned either by a cut or a burn; he had on and took with him when he went away, a blue broad-cloth coat with a red velvet cape, a pair of nankeen breeches, with strings at the knees, one pair ditto gray cassimer, much worn, and a pair of old boots and shoes. Mr. Henry Rozer, near Alexandria, raised him, and sold him last fall, and he is well acquainted in that neighbourhood and Alexandria; he has been seen in the Federal City, and I believe passes as a free man, and says he obtained his freedom from Mr. H. Rozer. It is very probable he has changed his name and dress, and procured a pass or certificate of his being free. Whoever will deliver the said runaway to his master shall receive the above reward, or THIRTY DOLLARS for securing him in any gaol, so that his master gets him again.

JAMES BOWIE BROOKES.

September 8, 1796.

COMMITTED to my custody as a runaway, a negro woman who calls herself MINTA, and says she belongs to captain WALTER SMITH, of Calvert county, she appears to be about 18 or 19 years of age, and pretty tall. Her master is desired to take her away, or she will be sold agreeably to law to discharge her prison fees, and other charges.
